

Stacy DeCicco
Executive Director
United Way Alliance of the Mid-Ohio Valley

Stacy is an alum of West Virginia University and has a background in Early Childhood Education. She spent nearly twenty years in the classroom and as a small business owner before crashing into the non-profit world. She has served as a board member and director of small non-profits before coming to the United Way. She was born and raised in the MOV and believes wholeheartedly in this community and the rich potential that it holds. Stacy has two children that are “grown & flown”; she currently resides in Mineral Wells with her husband. She serves on the board of the Mountaineer FoodBank, the WV United Way Collaborative and the WV211 Board and is a proud and active Rotarian.
